Transpacific Flight to Hawaii is Postponed Until Tuesday

FLIERS AGREE THAT ALL HAVE EQUAL CHANCE

Some Ships Not Ready; Levine and Frenchmen To Leave Sunday

By International News Service

All transoceanic flights over both the Atlantic and Pacific which were set for today, were postponed for one reason or another. It had been expected that three planes would start from Europe for the United States, while nine entrants in the transpacific flight for the $25,000 Dole prize were reported ready to go.

Southampton, Eng., Aug. 12—Adverse weather off the coast today caused Capt. Frank T. Courtney, British air ace, to postpone his hop on the first leg of his transocean flight to New York.

Berlin, Aug. 12—Otto Kemmeler, noted German flier, who will attempt a non-stop sky journey from Cologne to New York, expects to fly to Cologne today, but he will not start on the actual transoceanic flight until later, if weather conditions permit he may take off from Cologne tomorrow. The Junkers plane which will leave Dessau for New York may get away within 48 hours if the necessary arrangements can be made and weather conditions are favorable.

FLIGHT SET BACK UNTIL NEXT TUESDAY

Municipal Airport, Oakland, Calif., Aug. 12—The great Dole prize air marathon from California to Honolulu, scheduled to start at noon today, has been postponed until next Tuesday, it was officially announced at flight headquarters here this morning.

The announcement followed a meeting late last night of the nine pilots who will make the flight. Under the terms of a "gentlemen's agreement" the only two pilots who had qualified up to last night agreed to await the trials and qualifications of the other seven.

The flight was then called off for today and the new hop set for Tuesday of next week.

After a day of uncertainty during which the flight was on and off half a dozen times, the ace pilots got together in the administration building on the field and agreed on the new date.

Two Planes Pass

The only two planes passed by officials and qualified to enter the race today were the San Francisco Examiner's Golden Eagle, to be piloted by John ("Jack") Frost and the silver monoplane of Lieut. Norman Goddard.

Auggy Pedlar of Flint, Mich., got the pilots together and it was under his management that the meeting was held and the agreement finally signed. Government officials here to test the planes and members of the local committee immediately agreed to the postponement when the proposition was put to them.

Under the signed agreement all who qualify before 10 p. m. today will retain their original numbers. Jack Frost, pilot of the Golden Eagle, who drew No. 15 in the original drawing for starting place, will now move up to first place and Norman Goddard will be second. Those who qualify today will take numbers in the order in which they qualify.

Major Livingston Irving's ships have not been cleared by the government officials and neither has that of Lieuts. Benjamin Griffin and Al Hendley.

Auggy Pedlar announced that he had made a change in navigators since Manley Loving had been disqualified. He has selected Lieut. V. R. Knope of the San Diego Naval Air Station as Loving's successor.

The postponement was made as a result of the sportsmanship of the two pilots who had qualified. Both maintained that they wanted all the entrants to have an equal chance since all had gone to great expense together with hard work and loss of time.

LEVINE, DROUBIN, GIVON MAY HOP OFF SUNDAY

Paris, Aug. 12—If weather conditions permit Charles A. Levine, Maurice Drouhin and Leon Givon will hop off from Le Bourget Flying Field for the United States on Sunday morning. Bonchamp Costa will not be ready for his take off until Monday or Tuesday.

Levine, who plans to fly back to the United States with Drouhin as pilot in the Bellanca plane Columbia, which Clarence D. Chamberlin piloted from New York to Stassy, Germany, is superstitious about starting tomorrow, which will be the thirteenth. The American flier's superstition persisted despite the fact that he has received from Joseph Wesselhoft, a French friend, a talisman including an extract from the talmud.

Wesselhoft advised Levine to repeat three times before leaving:

"I abandon myself to the Lord."

Levine proposed to fly to Philadelphia instead of New York, but was opposed by Drouhin.

"I believe it is the duty of the first Frenchman who makes the transatlantic flight to land at New York," said the French pilot.

A Philadelphia newspaper has offered a $25,000 prize to the first aviator who makes a non-stop flight from Europe to Philadelphia.

Officials of the Farman company declared that the Farman "Blue Bird," which Given will pilot will be ready for the flight at 4 o'clock Sunday morning, but not before. This plane is equipped with tandem motors of 1,000-horsepower.

ROTARIANS AND WIVES TO SEE MAGICIAN HERE

W. W. Durbin, Kenton, To Appear Before Club Night of Aug. 29

Members of the Marion Rotary Club and their wives are to enjoy an unusual entertainment the night of Aug. 29, given by W. W. Durbin, of Kenton, who is ranked as one of the outstanding amateur magicians of the country.

Announcement that Mr. Durbin has been engaged for the occasion was made today by Charles E. Merkel, president of the Marion Savings Bank Co., chairman of the Rotary Club "stunt" committee appointed to arrange the entertainment.

The event will take place at Hotel Harding, with Mr. Durbin's act following a six o'clock dinner.

The Kenton man, who is head of a manufacturing concern in that city, will bring all of his extensive magician's equipment, which is said to compare with that used by Thurston and other leading professional performers. His entertainment, to last more than an hour, will take place on a special stage to be constructed for the occasion.

The art of legerdemain has been a hobby with Mr. Durbin for many years and as a consequence of his prominence in that field of entertainment, the annual meetings of the National Association of Magicians have been held in Kenton the last two years.

This will be his second entertainment in Marion, his first having been in connection with an Elks' minstrel show several years ago.

Now Comes Simplified Electric Refrigeration

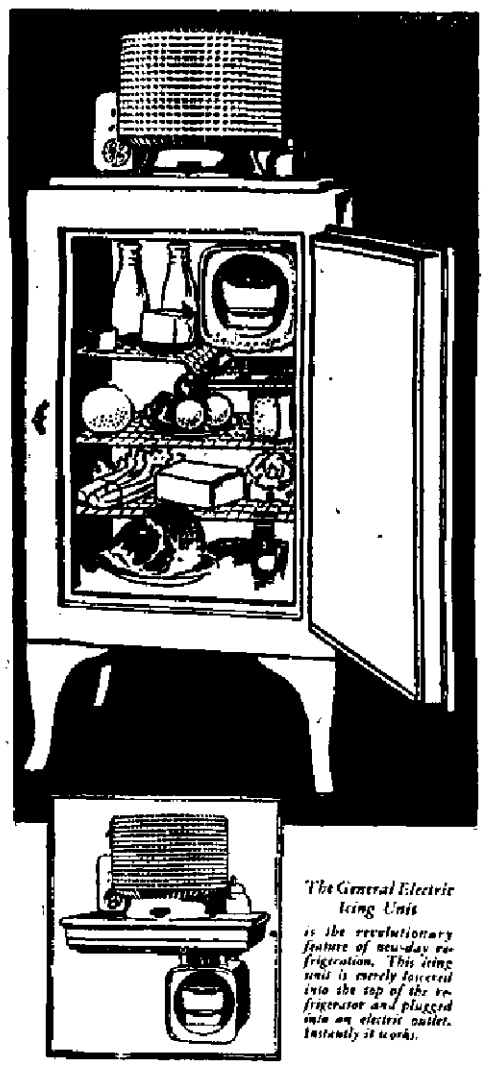
THE CREATION OF GENERAL ELECTRIC—THE LEADING ELECTRICAL RESEARCH ORGANIZATION OF THE WORLD



The General Electric Icing Unit
is the revolutionary feature of new-day refrigeration. This icing unit is merely lowered into the top of the refrigerator and plugged into an electric outlet. Instantly it works.

THERE is now a new development in electric refrigeration for the home. An amazingly simplified icing unit—made by General Electric.

Electric refrigeration—above all things an electrical problem—has been solved electrically by the world's outstanding group of technical experts, General Electric Engineers.

The General Electric Icing Unit is so simple mechanically that it is virtually trouble-proof. So efficient electrically that it consumes very little current. So precisely constructed and supremely engineered that it can hardly be heard within three feet of the refrigerator.

The entire mechanism is housed in one hermetically sealed casing mounted on top of the cabinet. You never need oil it—never need touch it. It operates automatically, maintaining a practically constant temperature in the refrigerator.

Only an institution like General Electric—with its world-wide electrical resources, could have produced so outstanding an electrical achievement.

It marks 15 years of intensive research. Some 64 leading engineers cooperated in its development. Their goal was to produce the simplest, most practical electric refrigerator that science could achieve.

Remember that the efficiency of any electric refrigerator you may purchase rests basically on its efficiency as an electrical device.

See the General Electric before you buy a refrigerator

Find out what General Electric has done in the field. Buying any other way is a mistake.

The model illustrated provides five and one-half cubic feet of food space, nearly eight square feet of shelf area and makes seven pounds of ice at once. This is ample for the average family. There are models for every home. Come in and see them.

FORD FLIGHT HELPS PUBLIC CONFIDENCE

Auto Magnate and Son Take Second Ride After Trip with Lindy

Detroit, Aug. 12—Confidence in air travel, planted by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh when he winged his way from New York to Paris, took deeper root in the public mind today as result of Henry Ford's first airplane flight.

Ford and his son, Edsel, both went up with Colonel Lindbergh in his plane, "The Spirit of St. Louis," it was also Edsel's first flight. The Fords enjoyed it so much that they took a second flight together with a party of 12 persons.

Resuming his nation-wide tour, Lindbergh was to leave the Ford airport about 1:30 p. m. for Grand Rapids where he is due at 2 p. m. He spent last night as the guest of Maj. and Mrs. Thomas G. Lanphier, commandant of Selfridge Field.

Lindbergh was highly pleased over Ford's ride with him.

"The Spirit of St. Louis" has never had a passenger beside myself. Mr. Ford, I'd like mighty well for you to be the first to ride with me," Lindbergh said to the motor magnate.

"All right, I'll go with you," replied Ford, who had been quoted many times as saying that he would spend the rest of his days on the ground.

Colonel Lindbergh, Major Lanphier and other prominent figures in things aeronautic stated they looked upon Ford's flight as a great help to the industry. They pointed out that if flying has reached the stage of safety where the world's richest man will undertake it, it certainly has settled at the point where millions of others will begin to travel by air.

DEBT CANCELLATIONISTS CRITICIZED AT INSTITUTE

George W. Scott, Los Angeles Attorney, Defends U. S. Treasury

Williamstown, Mass., Aug. 12—Arguments put forward by debt cancellationists were characterized as "thoroughly sportsmanlike" and "not intended to help those who contend for a revision of the French settlement" by George Winfield Scott, of the Institute of Politics today.

Scott, an attorney of Philadelphia and Los Angeles, and former professor of International Law at Columbia University, strongly defended the debt settlement negotiated by the United States Treasury and the World War Foreign Debt Commission with Great Britain, France, Italy, Belgium and other European nations.

Efforts of revisionists to transform so-called moral obligations into a legal obligation due to France he declared to be ill-advised. The charge that America is asking France to pay compound interest was termed ridiculous, especially since France under the original arrangement agreed to pay what ever interest we paid on the money borrowed from our own citizens."

"The question of the inability of France to carry out the proposed arrangement in the Mellon-Berenger Agreement could best be determined through actual experience," Scott said.

DEPORTATION OF NEWS WRITER PUZZLES CAPITAL

Seeks To Learn If Any Rights of New York Times Man Violated

Washington, Aug. 12 — Mysterious precipitate deportation of Joseph De Courcy, American newspaperman, continued to puzzle state department officials today, although it is generally believed in official circles here to have been brought about by a violation of the news censorship clamped down in Mexico City some months ago.

Further representations in De Courcy's behalf will be made, Acting Secretary Castle said, despite the fact that the American has been escorted out of Mexico by two agents of the ministry of the interior. The state department is interested in determining whether any of De Courcy's rights as a United States citizen have been infringed.

The arrest of De Courcy three days ago is, according to information available here, the first involving a newspaperman since the censorship became effective. Two other news writers were detained for more than 12 hours early this year at the height of the religious controversy, but neither was placed under arrest.

State department officials refused either to confirm or deny the report that De Courcy's expulsion was personally ordered by President Calles. They stated they were without information on that point.

Shovels and Gardners Battle to Eight-Inning Tie

Hubers Pull Surprise By Defeating Erie Shops, 7-5; Osgood Wins Over Fairfield

Shovel-Tap & Die Clash Called in Eighth Frame Because of Darkness: Score Is 1-1; C., D. & M. Wins by Forfeit

It was a great battle while it lasted—and it was still going strong at 7:45 last night when the umpire decided it was too dark to distinguish a ball from a strike. The score stood: Scientific Shovel Shops 1, Gardner Tap & Die 1 when the game was called at the end of the eighth inning and the contestants, the commission began arranging a date for another postponed game.

With Bartsch pitching for the Tap & Die and Ferrels on the mound for the Shovels, everything was locked on both sides until the fifth frame when Powers of the Shovels got a hit and Ferrels got another, the result being the Shovels' one run.

The sixth frame passed quietly but the fireworks started on the other side of the seventh. Lemyke of Gardner's took a free base, Smith collected a two-bagger and Bartsch rallied the Shovels' hopes of winning by a sweeping single, scoring on a single. Lemyke scored, tallying the Tap & Die's lone run.

Called in Eighth

Men went down in succession three or six in the eighth inning and now there's seven more to be played. If the Tap & Die win they will be certain of second place in the league standing. Otherwise it's not so sure of the position.

Erie Shops dropped out of the race last night when Hubers again pulled a surprise and defeated the Roundhouse gang 7 to 5. Hubers made seven errors but that didn't matter. They won anyway. Gifford gave the Erie clan gets only seven hits while his team mates helped themselves to 20ers of them and socked out nine of them.

Hubers Win

It was Hubers' second consecutive victory over another tough team. Two would become dangerous opponents if they had more than two more games to play. The way it stands now they can do no better than finish seventh.

Osgood defeated the Fairfield Electrons in the other game on the schedule of the Industrial loop. The score was 3 to 0 and put Osgood in third place, within one game of the Gardner Tap & Die Co.

Gamble pitched a great game for Fairfield but errors defeated him. Timmins was the winning pitcher. Osgood made one in the third inning and two more in the fourth to win the game.

C., D. & M. won by Marion Packing Co.'s forfeit.

Here's the standing:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
M. S. S. Shops	12	5	.706
Tap & Die	8	4	.667
Osgood	8	5	.615
Erie Shops	8	6	.571

Fairfield	6	7	.462
Huber	5	9	.357
Packing Co.	0	14	.000

Last Night's Results

Osgood 3, Fairfield 0.

Shovel Shops 1, Gardner Tap & Die 1 (eight innings).

Delaney Wins on Foul; Critics Again Argue

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 — The wedge ball player when told to go out and play right field, especially asked to be directed to the position in the event fans here on that particular ball park before and judging by the vantage of that memorial structure, he was better about 50 years too soon. In the day and age he could have been a referee of prize fights with nothing to do but wonder where the fool line was.

Of course, such high service is reserved for only a favored few but, in the event that he could be consulted, the noble professors of moral equivocation would call about to say by. The rules no longer screen those functions of the bat for the purpose of commenting on the merits of the contest, he

However, it goes as well when the referee says it. Dempsey was to a knockout Delaney was on a foul and you can prove it by the record book. It seems not very near. More over it may be possible to forget the incident and turn our attention to something important.

Here's Walsh's Version

The incident last night, of course, lost its element of importance to both Delaney and Paulino and, since the questionable blow occurred in the ninth round, he will venture to state that it was a light punch that brushed Delaney's right very severely. Paulino had been warned at least twice before about just such lack of precision but, at that, the greatest pain seemed to have been suffered by the referee's left eyebrow.

Dundee was a well-beaten fighter when he left the ring. He was a badly beaten fighter when he entered it. Delaney was a fresh fighter when he left the ring. He was a fresh fighter when he entered it. Delaney was on a foul and you can prove it by the record book. It seems not very near. More over it may be possible to forget the incident and turn our attention to something important.

Party Leaders Anticipate Lively Battles Preceding November Election Here

Predicted Campaigners Not Expected To Get Under Way Before Early Part of October; Village, County Candidates Get on by Petition

Usually following the excitement and turmoil incident to a warmly contested primary, there comes a lull during which nominees and party leaders take things easy and energize their resources financial and otherwise for the battle to be waged in September.

The lull in this year in the case of Marion but it is not a return from the primary hell last Tuesday. It is merely a continuance of the quiet and indifference which prevailed up to and including primary day.

The situation will become much livelier before the date for the fall election arrives. Leaders of both the democratic and republican forces predict. Both organizations are preparing to carry on a spirited campaign for the various city offices from mayor on down to ward councilmen.

As a reversal of the ordinary it will be the "storm after the lull" according to predictions.

To Draw Lines

The battle, if it actually does develop is not likely to get under way in earnest until early in October. Prior to that time it is expected that party organizations will begin to draw up their lines in preparation for the conflict and the men in real lines will of considerable importance for the purpose of strength among the voters and electing to battle under the banner of their respective parties.

With both parties now provided with full municipal tickets in the city of Marion, candidates must be lined up for the various township village and school districts. These candidates are to be named by petition.

A number of aspirants for these offices have already taken out petitions and expect to qualify soon. Petitions for township and village offices must be signed by at least 25 voters and 150 signatures are required for school board candidates in the city of Marion.

Time for filing these petitions will expire Sept. 9.

Bond Issue Up

In addition to electing municipal officials there will be voted upon the question of a $1,000,000 bond issue for the construction of a new system of [illegible] in Marion. The bond issue will pass it is generally believed by the voters and the [illegible] will be [illegible] soon.

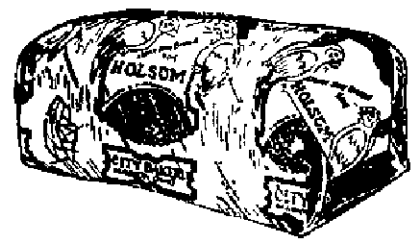
Holsum Bread Brings Back Memories Of The Greatest Baker of Them All!



SHE was the greatest baker of them all. She knew every secret of the baking art. Carefully, thoughtfully, lovingly, she went about her joyous task of baking the best bread to be found in all the world.

With mother, the greatest baker of them all, Holsum bakers have matched their skill. And today Holsum brings back those fluffy slices of tenderness you enjoyed so much back home. Remember how good those slices were! Their fresh deliciousness melted in your mouth. Nothing so good in all the world!

We have taken mother's time-tried recipe and put together the simple, wholesome ingredients it called for. We have baked this Holsum loaf in a bakery as clean as mother's own kitchen.

Holsum bread comes to you in a long loaf of many extra slices, as fresh, as fragrant, as delicious, as those golden loaves you enjoyed at home. And it has that good, old fashioned nourishment that spelled good health to all. Enjoy tonight the goodness of this Holsum loaf. Your grocer has it oven fresh.

In "God and the Grocery-man," Mr. Wright brings into existence again Dan Matthews, the town character of other novel. As 20 years have passed since Dan Matthews lived in the pages of fiction as we see him in the present day, a change in the appearance of Dan's son, Young Matt. Time has also given him a greater sense of the value and responsibility and power.

Interest Sustained

While the novel appears to have in it the making short of a literary contribution to Legion of America today by "the average the interest of the reader is sustained by an absorbing portrayal of the Mr. Wright views it on the modern basis of today. To make the story complete there is a touch of romance.

To picture this average American home life Wright has introduced Joe Paddock, the grocery-man, his wife and daughter, Georgia.

Joe Paddock is depicted as a kind husband and father, given to worry over the growing failure of the church in his community to meet its needs and the attendant decline in morals, as is plainly visible in his daughter's acts. Mrs. Paddock, a frivolous, shallow seeker of culture, is impossible.

Georgia, by far, is the most lovable character in the book. She is pictured as a sincere young woman who has lost interest in the church due to the substitution of entertaining programs for religion. She, it is, who provides romance to color the story.

To her the author credits a pretty broad statement on the "freedom of the youth of today." In her mouth he puts these words:

"The freedom we talk of is all bunk. We do what the crowd expects us to do, not because we want to but to prove us good sports."

As the readers anticipate, the story ends happily, with Wright's pleasing church program a success, the preacher man's hopes realized and Georgia's romance terminating perfectly.

PROMINENT FALL BOOK ANNOUNCED

PROMINENT in the fall catalogue of [illegible] Dodd, Mead & Co. Publishers [illegible] "More Than Wife," Margaret Widdemer, author of "Gallant Lady" and "Black Stream" by Nathaniel Benchley Colby, who also wrote "Seven Faces." Mrs. Colby's "vivid account" which flows through the lives of characters in her new novel of New York, represents the flood of experiences and responsibilities dawning for adventure, energies and hopes of girls who, living in the modern world, must give so many hostages to fate.

The first novel by the well known Dutch actress, Karin Michaelis, to appear in English since "The Dangerous Age" is "Destiny's End," the absorbing story of a woman whose early puritanical environment have given her a passion for independence and a decided aversion to marriage.

Two splendid books for young folks included on the same list are "Magic Isles," by Nancy Byrd Turner and Leone Merwin, a book of poems and fantasy, and "Nip-Nought-Nothing," by Samuel Hutchison, four fairy-tale plays of the matter-of-fact manner that children love.

Two other worth-while books, the one biographic, and the other discussion of an important topic of the day, are "Genius and Character" by Emil Ludwig in which he deals with nineteen men of genius among whom are Shakespeare, Beethoven, Byron, Goethe, Voltaire and Bismarck.

The other book, "Why Stop Learning?" is the work of Dorothy Canfield Fisher, popular American novelist. In it she describes the new conception of adult education and discusses Women's Study Clubs, University Extension, the child study movement, etc.

NEW NORRIS BOOK POWERFUL NARRATIVE

A powerful narrative and one that is certain to arouse more than ordinary interest, particularly among the readers of "Pig Iron" "Bread," and "Salt," earlier novels of Charles Norris, is his new book, "Zelda Marsh."

Norris' books are all wholesome stories based on life and fact. In "Zelda Marsh" Norris considers a young woman who possesses the most dangerous of all gifts, sex appeal, and tells the story of her career from school girl to theatrical star.

HERE'S BOOK FOR AMERICAN GIRLS

FOR the thousands of young girls whose chief consideration is the thought "What am I going to do? What am I qualified to do now that my education is completed?" Miss Helen Ferris, editor of "The American Girl", and Virginia Moore have written "Girls Who Did" (Dutton) in which some 20 well-known women tell what they have done and how they became successful in their field. "Girls Who Did" tells of the experiences of all types of girls, from politicians to opera singers, actresses, sculptors, painters, nurses, sportswomen and others.

DECLARED MOST DARING BOOK

What is said to be the most daring book of the season is "Face Value," J. L. Campbell's new story just published by the Duttons. It is the story of a boy, born in an unmoral stratum of the Paris world with no knowledge of his parents, later adopted by an English couple and soon the sensation of their social circle, his school experiences and all that contribute to his bitter knowledge of life.

HERE'S BOOK ON PERSONALITY

ALL that psychology has to teach concerning the complex subject of personality—what it is and how it may be developed—is dealt with in the new book, "The Psychology of Personality" by B. F. Valentine, recently published by the Duttons.

MODERN BIOGRAPHY ON SHAKESPEARE OUT

Clara Longworth de Chambrun's recently published "Shakespeare: Actor-Poet" is a biography of the poet done in the modern biographical manner. Concerning it, the author writes: "My constant endeavour in composing this book was to make a readable volume on Shakespeare based on known facts. I have thought more of the amateur than of the literary priest; more of the student than of the connoisseur professor. I have tried to salvage from sterile discussion and to preserve myself from exhibiting what special erudition I might pretend to, and simplicity being the end I aimed at, old English spelling often proving an obstacle to general reading, I have conformed to the Cambridge text, adapting while not adhering necessarily to the reading of any modern edition. . . . In the appendix I have striven to adhere to the seventeenth century spelling because these texts are lost, but for the use of special students for whom the originals are unobtainable."

BOB DAVIS HAS ANOTHER BOOK

Bob Davis, whose "Over My Left Shoulder," proved one of the most delightful books of reminiscence, has a new book, "Bob Davis Recalls," published by Appleton this week. Long experience as a magazine editor and newspaper man has given Mr. Davis countless friends and a varied career of which to write. In "Bob Davis Recalls," 50 stories of long laughter and tears, Mr. Davis has gathered the choicest anecdotes of his rich collection. In his new book Davis describes a fishing trip with O. Henry, an interview at Rome with Mussolini as well as meetings with Ivan Zabrowski.

"Warfield's advice decided me on Luckies"

At the Fairfield Country Club Hugh Beaumont explains to Miss Ethel Burnside how he came to prefer Lucky Strikes.

The Noted Actor, David Warfield, writes:

"Among other things, when young actors come to me for advice, I always say, 'Take care of your voice, cultivate it—and watch your smoking.' Usually they eye the cigarette in my hand with some suspicion. And then, I offer them a Lucky Strike—a cigarette I smoke freely, and have yet to feel the slightest effect on my throat. I've been told that toasting does that for this cigarette. When I smoke 'Luckies' my throat is beautifully clear and uninitated."

David Warfield

You, too, will find that Lucky Strikes are mild and mellow—the finest cigarettes you ever smoked, made of the finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill, and there is an extra process—"It's toasted"—no harshness, not a bit of bite.

"It's toasted"

town sales. Meanwhile a furious drive against White Sewing Machine sent that stock reeling from 48 to 34 while Houston Oil suffered an additional 17-point collapse to 112. At that price Houston was down 62 points on the week, half of which had been lost since yesterday noon.

All three of the above stocks rallied approximately their starting points. Elerka jumping sensationally 25 points to 72 when reports were circulated that sponsors of the stock were prepared to protect it from bear-ish assaults.

Houston recovered about 15 points and White Sewing Machine 10.

Until well after the noon period, the Fifth Class industrial stocks were unaffected by the collapse of their speculative brethren, but uneasiness in the financial district was reflected in the attended offerings of United States Steel, General Motors, Bethlehem Steel and Baldwin.

Others May Collapse

Looking somewhat below the surface, it was stated in brokerage houses that increasing scrutiny by the banks of the stocks offered as collateral for call loans had resulted in the rejection of the stocks which have been inflated in market values in recent months. There was also a fear of the collapse of other Wall street commission houses and the pools which have been sponsoring the notable forward movements of various stock issues. The overbending of these pools by outside liquidations and professional selling, and the withdrawal of "supporting" buyers' orders opened up a cavity into which the stock fell like a house of cards.

Financial and industrial reports of the day were generally favorable though it was impossible to give them the consideration they deserved while confusion raged in the stock market. General Motors appeared to be started for higher price levels when the speculative storm broke and the stock moved down to 219, the lowest price of the year. Uncovering of stop-loss orders was reported as the whole list settled down to a lower range of prices. Manhattan Supply, which rallied to 64½ in the first period, plunged again to 51 when selling pressure became acute.

Call money was unchanged at 5% per cent.

CHARLES STEWART

The theory appears to have been that there'll continue, even with Coolidge out of it, to be a "regular" group and an "insurgent" group just as at present.

This doesn't necessarily follow. Perhaps they'll get together.

TO be sure, Senator Borah was suggested, as an off-chance Republican standard-bearer, the minute President Coolidge announced his coming retirement.

This idea, of course, is piffle. The sublime Republicans never would accept Borah in a thousand years. * * *

SENATOR ROBERT B. HOWELL of Nebraska, now—he's conceivable.

Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas would almost do.

Howell certainly is liberal enough for the insurgents. He'd make the conservatives grit their teeth pretty hard, but they probably would put up with him. He always has preserved his party regularity.

Capper certainly would go down with the conservatives and he has his liberal spells—has been notably sympathetic toward insurgency several times.

They're the general type that might [redacted]

BUILDING OPERATIONS HERE BEING CHECKED

Clerk in County Auditor's Office Completing Annual Task

Harry Smith clerk in the county auditor's office is completing his annual task of checking up values of building construction work done during the year preparatory to placing the valuation figures on the tax duplicate.

The record for the year lists approximately 800 building projects including both new structures and additions or improvements to old ones. The total will be smaller than that of the preceding year according to present indications. Definite figures will not be available until the check up is completed.

A large majority of new buildings constructed during the last year were private garages a preliminary survey shows. Garage construction will come very near to equaling the record of the preceding year and may run higher. The number of dwellings erected will be less than the preceding year, the survey indicates.

Makes Inspection

During the last few months South has made an inspection of building work done during the last year as shown by permits issued at the office of the city clerk. Tax values are fixed in accordance with a scale of measurements adopted for appraisal purposes here several years ago.

All new buildings and additions to old buildings constructed prior to the beginning of the tax year the first Monday in April are to be listed for taxation on the duplicates now being compiled in the auditor's office.

The first half of this year's taxes are due Dec. 20.

The drawback about the device of that Kansas City man by which he was able to run an automobile by taking energy out of the ether,' it develops, is the upkeep of the unusually powerful battery concealed beneath the cushions of the back seat

As the days pass we feel more and more inclined to feel that what the voters of Ohio will do to the Marshall act, which is a vicious substitute to restore the power to justices of the peace which they wielded under a vicious law declared unconstitutional by the United States supreme court will be a twin brother to murder

A Mechanical Arms Expert.

The claim has frequently been made by those agitating in their behalf, that the two Italians, Sacco and Vanzetti were convicted of murder and sentenced to execution on the strength of circumstantial evidence Doubtless all of us have seen statements to this effect in print As a matter of fact circumstantial evidence pointed strongly to the guilt of the accused but there were other factors which led to their conviction among them being the stories of the accused which were demonstrated to be untrue and later by their counsel admitted to be untrue and direct evidence in the form of the identification of the accused by eye witnesses of the slaying of the South Braintree paymaster and his guard It is fair to say here, that there was uncertainty on the part of some of the witnesses called to identify the prisoners, and also that there was a wide variance of opinion on the part of the arms experts, the experts called by the state, as is so often the case testifying one way and those called by the defense testifying the other

No matter how conscientious experts may be they are but human and subject to error No doubt the testimony offered by the arms experts of the state was largely responsible for the conviction of the two men, yet the experts of the state might have been mistaken

But when Governor Fuller, of Massachusetts decided to review the case and named his commission of three to go over the proceedings of the entire trial, an instrument was introduced which is said to have convinced the governor and the members of his commission of the guilt of Sacco and Vanzetti

It is known to all arms experts that the fine lines made by the rifling on two bullets fired from the same barrel will coincide with amazing precision while the lines on bullets fired from different barrels, even from the same make and type of weapon, will not agree A bullet found in the body of one of the slain men and a shell thrown out of the gun of one of his slayers had been compared with a bullet and a shell from the gun found on Sacco but the experts, as stated, had disagreed

It was to clear up this situation that Major Calvin H Goddard, of New York city in the interest of justice and science alike, offered to conduct a test with an instrument, which not only magnifies the objects for comparison many hundreds of times, but by a series of prisms fixes them, end to end, into one eye piece and at the same time photographs them

Major Goddard stipulated that he must be given a number of bullets and shells the one from the body of the slain man and one shot from Sacco's gun among them, that it must be understood that he was to conduct the test as an impartial observer not as an employee of either the state or the defense, that he was not to be offered compensation and that the tests to be made in the presence of the attorneys of both sides

These points being agreed to the tests were conducted June 3 under the conditions named in the courthouse at Dedham Massachusetts In such results that one of the arms experts of the defense withdrew from the case convinced of his error

To make a long story short Major Goddard by the use of his instrument speedily picked out the bullet taken from the body of the murdered man and the shell found on the scene of the crime by comparing all the bullets and shells with a bullet fired from Sacco's gun and the shell from which it was fired The same marks were shown on both shells as a result of irregularities impossible of perception through an ordinary microscope in the cartridge chamber and the firing of the two bullets was found to be identical Cuts made from the photographs taken and run in the Boston papers show the wide dissimilarity between the bullet from the dead man and a bullet fired from other guns and the perfect alignment of the rifling marks of the fatal bullet with the rifling marks of a bullet fired from Sacco's gun Had one bullet been cut in two and the two parts been placed together and photographed the rifling of the two parts of the same bullet could not be closer to the same formation than are those depicted in the photograph which is sufficiently enlarged to show a bullet about nine inches in diameter

No matter what the outcome of the Sacco Vanzetti matter may be this newly perfected instrument has put the human arms expert so subject to error if not to influence out of business so far as court proceedings are concerned for all time Attorneys will hesitate long before calling an arms expert hereafter when they know that there is extant an instrument that can not make mistakes an instrument which is mechanically perfect so far as making comparisons is concerned which can be brought into play to refute their experts and establish what they may not wish to have established

Recalling the absurd variations of the experts in many murder trials in the past as well as in the present case the value of the new instrument can be appreciated

It's the exceptional which makes the news and the time probably isn't so far away when the item will be telling something along this line John Jones didn't try to pass in traffic yesterday or beat the train to the crossing and is still alive

To obviate a possible sad misapprehension on the part of those suffering from thirst, it may be well to say that the obstacle across the international bridge shown in the illustrations was placed there for the purpose of the recent ceremonies only

A paragrapher says 'the average man spends half his life thinking how happy he is going to be and the other half thinking how happy he used to be We would like to believe it but we can't for coming right down to brass tacks that would mean that the entire life of the average man is a happy one

Judge Herbert Smith, whoever he may be, is quoted as saying that gravestones are no earthly good ' We don't know about that They have their sentimental significance in reminding those left behind that we have gone to our heavenly home and at times have a practical value We know of a one time citizen of Marion who constructed his cellar steps of a number which he casually picked up in a nearby cemetery

Dr Nicholas Murray Butler may mean well when he says that the world today is without a single great man but it simply goes to show that he hasn't made the acquaintance of a lot of fellows we have met who wouldn't even so much as think of denying their greatness

Lecturing at the summer session of Columbia university, Professor William E Lingelbach of the University of Pennsylvania told the students that the lack of accord between this country and Europe is due to our psychology that this country has acquired a creditor frame of mind Naturally, lecturing before a Columbia gathering he would put it that way rather than set out that the lack of accord is due to a debtor frame of mind in Europe

There is always the exception to the rule It didn't rain snow or grow cold Thursday In fact it was bright sunshiny and comfortably warm from sunrise till sunset—a perfect sample of what in years past we used to refer to as Marion's ideal summer weather

The wheat crop of the United States and Canada is now estimated at 1 210 000 000 bushels compared with an estimate in August of last year of 1 158 000 000 and a harvest of 1 241 000 000 while the estimated corn crop is 2 355 000 000 which is 104 000 000 bushels above the July estimate and 92 000 000 under the last August's estimate which was followed by a crop of 2 647 000 000 bushels It begins to look as though maybe old Mother Nature has concluded to be good and show up the experts again
